DIRECTOR'S NOTE

How do we laugh on Zoom? Should we even be doing comedy now? And should the Director's Note for a sketch comedy show be funny? These are the questions of our time. The world is hard, people are hurting, there's work to be done. Right now as a society, we desperately need community, coping, persistence, resistance, justice, herd immunity... and not to overinflate our role here, but a pathway to all of this is comedy. Except the herd immunity part. (Thank you Kizzmekia Corbett for NOT doing comedy.) There's a great quote by Kate McKinnon — "Comedy is a tool of togetherness. It's a way of putting your arm around someone, pointing at something, and saying, 'Isn't it funny that we do that?' It's a way of reaching out." When we can laugh together, we can truly BE together. That's the business of humanity.

DIRECTOR'S BIO

Kirstin Eggers has been a working actor and writer for over 20 years, with extensive commercial, guest and recurring television appearances including as a series regular on the ABC sitcom Work It, for which Entertainment Weekly called her "phenomenal." Off camera, she has performed sketch and improv comedy at the Groundlings, UCB, Comedy Central Stage, Universal Studios Japan, and esteemed comedy festivals nationwide, including SketchfestNYC, Chicago Sketchfest, and the storied HBO U.S. Comedy Arts Festival in Aspen (winning Best Sketch Comedy). A bona fide Trojan, Kirstin holds a BFA in Acting from USC, and joined the USC SDA faculty in 2014.

SPECIAL THANKS

Jeff Small & Arthur Small, Jen Reiter Barker, Tehillah Alphonso, Snickers the Cat, Tuna the Cat
